Southwestern Christian College

Mission

To offer a holistic education program that will motivate the student to value and achieve academic excellence within the context of commitment to moral and spiritual values; to assist students in making their transitions from high school to higher education in various vocations of life; to prepare future leaders for their distinct communities and the world at large.

OUR HISTORY

Southwestern dates its official beginning in 1949; however, its pioneering history began as early as 1902 when its founder, George Phillip Bowser, established a Bible training school in Nashville, Tennessee. Bowser, who was an educator and an outstanding gospel preacher, conducted the school in the Jackson Street Church of Christ building in Nashville.

Later, Bowser moved his school to Silver Point, Tennessee, but because of financial difficulties the school closed. Because of Bower's insatiable desire and unflinching dream to found a school that could serve African-American Christians in spite of the segregation of the races, he started splinter school efforts in Louisville, Kentucky, Detroit, Michigan, and Ft. Smith, Arkansas. These schools were closed because of the scarcity of financial resources.

Joining Bowser in the struggle were men he mentored such as Dr. R. N. Hogan, Dr. J.S. Winston, Levi Kennedy, and G.E. Steward. These men persuaded him to establish a school in Fort Worth, Texas, at the Lake Como Church of Christ in 1949. Shortly afterwards, the board of directors purchased the Texas Military College buildings and grounds in Terrell, Texas. The college was moved to Terrell and opened in the fall of 1950.

SwCC was first accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges & Schools in 1973. The college has been reaffirmed in accreditation four times in the past and will be in the Class of 2019 for Reaffirmation of Accreditation. Southwestern Christian confers the Associate of Arts and Associate of Science degrees in the Liberal Arts and the Bachelor degree program in Religious Studies.

The first president of the college in Terrell was E.W. McMillan, who served until 1952. Following him was Dr. H. L. Barber (1952-1956), A.V. Isbell (1956-1967), and Dr. Jack Evans (1965-2017). Dr. Ervin D. Seamster (Class of 1987) was appointed President in January, 2017 and presently serves as the Chief Executive Officer.

Through the years, SwCC has undergone many changes, adding new facilities, new programs and new faces to its faculty and student body. Yet, the same spirit that prevailed during the tumultuous struggles of our pioneers persists as Southwestern CONTINUES to provide excellence in Christian Education.

OUR CORE VALUES

Dr. E. D. Seamster, Jr.
President, CEO

What do I believe are the ‘Core Values’ that define Southwestern Christian College? That is not a difficult question to answer, because I have shared my unbending beliefs countless times, with students, with faculty and staffers, with donors, with my executive team members in the President’s Office, with family, close friends, and most recently, I quoted, in a letter to SwCC Board members, some of my favorite words from W. E. B. DuBois on the question of values and how challenges to those values should be faced.

Regarding the ordeal of a character named Manuel Mansart, DuBois brilliantly penned some of his most provocative ideals and questions that each man, (like Manuel), and each woman, must look within to answer. And, then, look without, to act. DuBois concentrated on four primary areas, internal life queries that I have found essential in helping to answer challenges at every stage in my life, particularly as a student. It is crucial that we arm today’s student at Southwestern Christian College with the necessary tools to overcome adversity and still be able to focus on excellence. They must ask the time-honored questions that inspire growth and strength: How shall Integrity face Oppression? What shall Honesty do in the face of Deception? What shall Decency do in the face of Insult? What shall Virtue do in the face of Brute Force?

The ‘Core Values’ at Southwestern Christian College that I believe are the guiding principles here, are the same ones I have embraced as a man, as an entrepreneur, and, now, as an HBCU college president. When DuBois posed those conundrums, he seemed to slightly shrug on the page, issuing a profound declaration that was part scornful, part hopeful—there are “so many answers.” DuBois knew that every man must choose the core values that define whether he, or she, will be a world-changer or a mediocre follower.

➤ At Southwestern, integrity matters, because it is built into the great legacy and our founders were rooted in a supreme principle of being true to your word. G. P. Bowser did not simply teach integrity, his life was founded on it. He required it to face the daily insults of overt and subtle oppression, from people who wanted to kill not only the idea of this school where students did not have to enter a back door or sit outside a lecture hall to learn, but from people so offended by black schools they wanted to kill the sheer hope this bold-faced integrity required to face oppression and still produce genius, teachers, preachers, and laypeople who carried the tradition of Southwestern all over America. Our integrity matters.

➤ At Southwestern, honesty goes hand-in-hand with integrity, because whatever we are passionate about, being honest about our mission is such a critical cornerstone of our institution. We do not lie to each other. We do not lie to students about our holistic approach and attitude. We do not demand that students do anything the President, faculty and staff are not willing and morally capable of doing. Integrity is what old-timers call your bond. If you have heard someone say, “A man’s word is his bond,” they were talking about his integrity, a willingness to stand for something, no matter what that something is. Usually, it is the “principle of a thing,” as we hear so often, that a person is willing to sacrifice everything for. Honesty, as a ‘Core Value,’ at Southwestern, means we walk the walk, not just talk the talk. We tell, live, and teach an unshakeable truth.

➤ At Southwestern, decency is not issued as a privilege to one class of students or staffers. Decency is basic, owed to all of humanity. We strive to instill the strength of character that inspires young people, in our charge, and the older ones coming through our doors, to work, to visit, to get an education, too, because we believe respecting others is the hallmark of a respect for self. That extends to property and intellectual ideas. We encourage mutual decency and respect, for all, regardless of race, creed, color, religion or gender. Decency helps create a safe space that promotes creativity and dialogue, ideas and opportunity for exploration.

➤ At Southwestern, courage is the highest ‘Core Value’ witnessed on a daily basis, and, thus, it is one of my favorite human qualities to nurture, to see the actual development of, as these students discover they... have... it. Courage is also what has motivated me, in my own struggles and successes, to dig deeper, in the search for a truth that can hold back the forces designed to stop us, with, as DuBois knew, the lies that will certainly bombard us. Self-doubt can also eat away at a person’s will to continue, to study, to teach, to not let the oppressors win. This is why demonstrating courage, in our campus life, every single day, is another important guiding principle. A poet once said, “My fear is my only courage.” Even fear, at Southwestern, can be turned into something positive that makes us know we are brave enough to withstand that fear... and keep pushing it forward, paying it forward.

➤ At Southwestern, a rigorous education must be applied to young hearts and minds, so they receive the total educational experience that has a dual-design of spiritual training—with its intense bible courses for ministerial students and laypeople, but also one of world training—with its exceptional focus on English, Math, Science, and Humanities, carry-over courses they can transfer to the next school with confidence. I am a strong advocate for incorporating a rigorous approach to inspiring young people to become critical thinkers by exposing them to a multitude of scholars, a diverse and comprehensive reading list, educational excursions (like our 2018 civil rights Freedom Tour), and by offering them an opportunity to participate in public service projects, visit city council chambers, and engage with business mentors who can show them how to read contracts, put in bids, and communicate with other successful entrepreneurs. Additionally, our student-teacher ratio has been a tremendous ally in making sure we stay committed to the principles of a rigorous education, a worthy ‘Core Value’ that turns average into an academic.

➤ At Southwestern, spiritual formation, when wed to global transformation, unites all the core values necessary to the growth of young people, which is why we offer them daily Chapel, Bible courses, community concepts for good, clean, holistic choices to help our students find their way and develop healthy relationships. Because these young people are always in formation in every facet of their lives: physical, emotional, mental, and, spiritual. Southwestern is unique because it is a college designed to support Christian morals and values, demonstrating what is known as the ‘Jesus-Ethic of love.’ Teachers, accredited universities, and schools are mandated by the Department of Education and SACS to prepare students, academically. But, Southwestern has another mandate from a higher power, to offer outstanding spiritual preparation as we are not concerned with, or committed to, the delivery of cheap results or inexpensive schooling. My success came from the learned tutors and professors who embraced a deeper educational philosophy through spiritual formation. After Southwestern, students are equipped for life and the next level of learning, but they will also have a God-centered heart, with excellent business skills to help the communities that so desperately need them. They will act locally, because they’ve been trained to think globally. They will extend, and defend, compassion for their fellow man, because Southwestern has raised their moral conscience to another level for success.

➤ At Southwestern, excellence is the end result, a core value, that I, as President, cherish, because I know, in my heart, when the preceding six are taught and demonstrated, learned and embraced, the students in our charge are the next generation of scholars and winners. They leave better human beings, smarter young women and men, and ready to tackle world problems, community issues. The goal at Southwestern is a return to academic excellence, because we sincerely believe this noble brand of excellence honors God and inspires people and includes the concepts of evaluation, critical review, intensity, and talent. At Southwestern, we strive to bring out the natural gifts and graces our students have, by encouraging them to pursue the most outstanding training to companion and complement their goals, their dreams, and their futures. I am pushing for excellence. I am pushing for scholars. With these ‘Core Values,’ Southwestern Christian College will preserve its real, righteous legacy, for generations to come.

OUR PRESENT INSTITUTION PRIORITIES

Qualitative Educational Program

1. Maintain a qualitative academic program that will accommodate individual differences in learning rates, aptitudes, prior knowledge and experience. (SACS/COC Requirements: CR2.72, CR2.73, CS3.4, CS3.5, FR4.1, FR4.2, FR4.4)

Welcome to AMS for Faculty, Administrators, and Staff

Southwestern Christian College has selected Accountability Management System (AMS) by TaskStream to coordinate our outcomes assessment and continuous improvement processes. This guide provides you with an overview of your role(s) in AMS. For detailed information and step-by-step instructions, please refer to the appropriate sections of the help area.

What Is AMS?

AMS is a portal designed to help you have a way to manage content, resources, and communication for all accountability processes. AMS provides the tools to help you and your colleagues define objectives and outcomes through the use of collaborative authoring tools. These tools facilitate consensus building around all aspects of outcomes assessment and accountability, including defining outcomes and planning for assessment.

On your home page, you can view any announcements posted by campus administration. There is an internal Message Center that provides a closed email system to communicate with other contributors in your community. Your organization may share resources with you to provide important information related to your work in AMS. The Locator provides a place to view profile information about other AMS contributors in your organization.

What is Outcomes Assessment and Accountability?

AMS can be used for both outcomes assessment and accountability. AMS will help showcase the effectiveness of what Southwestern is accomplishing. In this way, outcomes assessment is a great opportunity for participants to think about what they are doing. Frequently, this process and the discussion it incites lead to the identification and implementation of improvements to create an even more successful entity.

The purpose of accountability and outcomes assessment is to improve the learning environment, not evaluate individual faculty or the students. Organizational effectiveness is often measured by looking at the effectiveness of the units of the institution.

How do you get access to work in AMS?

As a member of a department or division using AMS in your organization's accountability process, you will require an AMS account. Your AMS account will be associated with the participating area(s) (e.g. Administrative, Academic, Student Support, Accreditation, etc.) in which you participate. For example, if you are part of the Student Affairs Department, you will register your AMS account within the Student Affairs organizational area. You will be given separate instructions for this process.

An AMS Coordinator may assign you one or more workspaces depending on your areas of responsibility. Workspaces are lists of requirements to which your participating area needs to add content. Workspaces can be accessed by multiple members of your participating area. For each of the twelve Institutional Priorities, Collaborating Planning Units are identified. You may be asked to provide content or data of some type if your area is among those listed.

What is your role in AMS?

Add and View Content

You will be working, in conjunction with other members of your participating area, within at least one workspace. This workspace will define the requirements to which your participating area needs to respond. Your participating area may be assigned more than one workspace.

The structure and guidelines that accompany the requirements are specified by the AMS Coordinator who set up the workspace that you will be using. Since you will be sharing the workspace with other members of your participating area, there are some important things to keep in mind.

There are two levels of permissions that you may be given for each workspace. You may be given only the ability to view the contents of the workspace or you may be granted editing access, as well. You can determine which level of access you were given by looking at the links associated with the workspace on your home page. No matter which level of access you are given, you will also be able to participate in discussions with other members of your participating area around each requirement.

The discussion area is a very important part of your workspace. It provides an environment for you and your colleagues to discuss the content that you are including. If you have view only access, then the discussion areas provide a place for you to offer your suggestions and insights for the included content.

Submit and Review

Your participating area may be required to submit certain requirements for review. If you have the Submission & Read Reviews tab, you are required to submit at least one of the requirements for review. The purposes of review may be a simple sign off that something is complete, or it may be to provide you with feedback that supports your efforts. The workspace manager will communicate to you the purpose of the review, the review method, and who will do the review.

Reviewers will have the option of sending the submitted requirement back to request revision. When a requirement is sent back for revision, Reviewers may include comments and/or a provisional review that will accompany the request for revisions.

Help and Support

While using AMS, you may have technical questions about the system. For support, you can access the help area at any time by clicking the Help link from the top right corner of the page. If you would prefer personal assistance, you can contact TaskStream's support team, Mentoring Services, by calling 800-311-5656 or by emailing them at help@taskstream.com.

However, if you have questions regarding the requirements of your workspace or other methodological issues, we suggest you contact Dr. Joyce Cathey, V. P. of Institution Effectiveness. Email: joyce.cathey@swcc.edu. (972) 524-3341, Extension 140.

PRESIDENTIAL SWOT ANALYSIS

Analysis: Where are we today in terms of realizing our MISSION? What are our Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, and Threats?

Strengths (What do we do well?) What unique resources do we have to draw on? What do others see as our strengths?)

- SwCC is the only HBCU supported by African American members of the Church of Christ in the world.
- SwCC is in proximity to 2 major cities (Dallas and Ft. Worth).
- SwCC is in close proximity to our constituents and stakeholders.
- SwCC has more than adequate space to house students, created instructional space, expanded recreational space, etc. This could benefit up to 3 times our current population.
- SwCC is developing relationships with the city of Terrell as well as with Kaufman County.
- SwCC ministry students comprise up to 80% of the ministers serving the Churches of Christ (approximately 1500 Churches of Christ).
- SwCC has both national and international graduates which enhances SwCC's ability to be world changers.
- SwCC provides a low student-teacher ratio which allows SwCC students to be known by name and have access to hands-on support.
- SwCC alumni comprise up to 80%-90% of auxiliary leaders serving the Churches of Christ.
- SwCC Acapella Choir travels throughout the US serving as ambassadors, fundraisers and recruiters.
- SwCC has developed and maintained a large library/learning center that provides class and office space, lecture hall space and a technology lab.
- SwCC has a dedicated and committed faculty and staff.

Weaknesses (What can we improve? Where do we have fewer resources? What are others likely to see as weaknesses?)

- SwCC has a veteran aging faculty.
- SwCC has a veteran aging Board of Directors.
- SwCC has veteran stakeholders and fundraiser coordinators (i.e. Dinner Day).
- SwCC is currently under capacity with regards to its student population.
- SwCC lacks affluent donors.
- SwCC is in need of trained and qualified student recruiters.
- SwCC has many inactive alumni chapters that could raise funds and/or recruit students.
- SwCC has a short supply of financial and material resources that could assist with expanding academic programs.
- SwCC's property is landlocked in its present location.
- SwCC's campus has aged buildings and buildings with deferred maintenance.
- SwCC's location is located within a city which limits its visibility from major highways.
- SwCC has financial debt that existed prior to the appointment of the current president.
- SwCC needs decisive financial support from the Department of Education.

Opportunities (What opportunities are open to us? What trends could we take advantage of? How can we turn our strengths into opportunities?)

- SwCC can recruit younger and trained staff and faculty.
- SwCC can develop new partnerships for financial and material resources.
- SwCC's new leadership provides an opportunity to create a new vision that is inclusive of 21st century learning opportunities. This includes rebranding SWCC both locally and nationally.
- SwCC can develop and expand distance learning to include neighboring cities.
- SwCC can rebuild its athletic program.
- SwCC can offer more academic and leadership scholarships to women and men.
- SwCC can recruit younger and more resourceful/skilled board members committed to Christian education and values.
- SwCC can create its own press to create literature for all Churches of Christ and other religious organizations.
- SwCC can utilize the President's skills as they relate to land development.
- SwCC can build partnerships with HBCUs and PWIs.
- SwCC can solicit PhDs for online platforms as instructors.
- SwCC can build partnerships with local and national civic and political leaders.
- SwCC can build healthier relationships and dialogue between the President, administration and board.
- SwCC can expand the curriculum and modes of delivering instruction in view of the new and changing demographics.

Threats (What threats could harm us? What threats do our weaknesses expose us to?)

- SwCC currently has a low student population. Increase is necessary.
- SwCC has many dilapidated buildings that are in need of repair for beautification purposes.
- SwCC's aging faculty needs up-to-date training on new and emerging teaching/learning strategies and technology.
- SwCC has many financial obligations that continue to plague the school.
- SwCC needs to regain its I20 status in order to recruit athletes internationally.
- SwCC needs to be able to raise more unrestricted funds.
- SwCC loan default rate is too high.
- SwCC has accrued too much debt, particularly debt that was carried over from the previous administration.

Southwestern Christian College

P.O. Box 10, Terrell, TX 75160

Dear Colleagues:

As you know, the time is rapidly approaching when we will have to present our case for Reaffirmation of Accreditation to the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools/COC.

In this climate of increased attention to “accountability and responsibility” evaluators will want to know how we assess the achievement of our mission; what key performance indicators support our assumptions; how we publish our findings to our college community; and how we use our findings for continuous improvement.

To that end, one of the tools that have been designed to inform our college community is the Annual Institutional Report Card. This report card covers all areas of the college community. It is designed to reflect how well we are doing, how we compare to industry standards or institutional benchmarks, and what areas require future refinement and focus.

It is believed that a report card, prepared annually, can also motivate us to higher achievement and improvement from year to year. The Planning & Institution Effectiveness Task Force asks that you study the list of key performance indicators that have been made a part of this document, related to your area of work, and report data as requested for the most recent three (3) years. If you have questions, please feel free to contact any member of the Institutional Effectiveness Task Force.

You may note that some performance indicators represent future reporting areas, for which you will not have current data. These indicators are shown so that you will be aware of data collection needs in the future. In those instances, you may indicate N/A for the years where data is not available.

We cannot over emphasize the importance of your participation in this effort. You are thanked in advance in anticipation of your cooperation!

Fraternally,

Dr. Joyce Cathey, V.P. Institutional Effectiveness

Quality Enhancement Plan

SACS defines the Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP), required as a key component of the reaffirmation process, as “a carefully designed course of action that addresses a well-defined and focused topic or issue related to enhancing student learning.” Furthermore, SACS states that the QEP “should be embedded within the institution’s ongoing integrated institution-wide planning.” The QEP must be “forward looking” and “[launch] a process that can move the institution into the future characterized by creative, engaging and meaningful learning experiences for students.”

The Quality Enhancement Plan must:

- focus on student learning (changes in knowledge, skills, behaviors or values)
- enhance student success
- include broad-based participation in the identification of the topic or issue to be addressed in the QEP
- include careful review of best practices
- include clear goals
- specify realistic, measurable student learning outcomes
- include allocation of adequate human and financial resources to develop, implement and sustain
- include implementation strategies that include a clear timeline and assignment of responsibilities
- include a structure established for evaluating the extent to which the goals set for the plan are attained

Furthermore, the QEP must:

- be part of ongoing planning and evaluation
- be Linked to effectiveness, quality, mission
- be Focused on well-defined issue(s)
- be thorough and analytical
- engage the wider academic community
- be an action plan to improve student learning
